

Chapter 6

literature review

Literature review is one of the most important stages of research, but is often overlooked by novice researchers or researchers who are not interested in performing quality research.

1.Types of Literature Reviews Can be divided into 2 types

- narrative literature review
- integrative literature review

2. Main Objectives and Goals

3. What are the worst things to do in a literature review?

4. Benefits of Literature Review

5. Literary sources to review